The Pink Finca

The Pink Finca is a delightfully rustic small house on a plot of 3,500 square metres, just outside the lively market town of Coin, some 45 minutes from Malaga airport, and less than 30 minutes from Marbella and other major resorts on the Costa del Sol.

Overlooking splendid valley and hill views, the finca is surrounded by mature orange, avocado and lemon trees.

The Pool

With a total built area of 120 square metres, the main house consists of a cosy sitting room, with a fireplace and log-burning stove, and a small kitchen. Adjacent are two good-sized bedrooms, with under floor heating, and a bathroom.

The plunge pool and terrace at the Pink Finca

Another bedroom and bathroom are situated off the huge vine-covered terrace and outside kitchen – and there is a further separate bedroom annexe situated down the garden, away from the house.

The small plunge pool is a feature of the 100 square metre paved and private terrace, surrounded by delightful shrubs and flowers..

A shady spot for a drink

A well provides excellent drinking water and town water is available. The house has mains electricity, and wireless Internet connection by Connecta 4.

A gem of a property.
